WT Hotel 2011, "architertural regeneration", light and interchangeable layers together with the next-generation technologies dress the building as a second skin, transforming the spatial, functional and emotional perception of the building inside and outside.

New skin, a new architectural frontier of Well-Tech for Hotels and receptive structures. With close attention to the integration of these new architectural forms with the most innovative solutions to reduce energy consumption through the use of renewable energy, eco-friendly materials, and management of natural light.
